

TURQUOISE: The World's Most Fascinating Gemstone

A Presentation of the Arnold and Doris Roland Distinguished Speaker Series

Joe Dan Lowry curates the Turquoise Museum in Albuquerque, NM. His knowledge of turquoise is sought the world over. He is a miner, lapidary, appraiser, and researcher. His family's line of jewelry, The Lowry Family Collection, is a global brand.

Joe Dan Lowry believes the only things more colorful than turquoise are the characters who love it. Join us for an interactive and lively presentation by this world-renowned expert. Joe Dan's talk will include stories about his family's five generations of mining, lapidary, and research, and about the people, cultures, religions, opinions, and misrepresentations he has encountered while dealing turquoise around the world. Joe Dan is the author of many books and articles. Bring your copies to be autographed. Books available on site for purchase.

Friday, February 2, 2018

7:00 p.m. @ CESL 103

Free and Open to All

Reception Follows Program

This is a presentation of the Arnold and Doris Roland Distinguished Speaker Series, made possible by the generosity of Dr. and Mrs. Roland. Reception is underwritten by the Friends of the ASM Collections.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA

ARIZONA STATE MUSEUM

The Center for English as a Second Language (CESL) is one building east of Arizona State Museum • ASM is just inside the UA's Main Gate at Park Ave and University Blvd • 1013 E University Blvd • Garage parking is available for a small fee at Euclid Ave and Second St or Tyndall Ave and Fourth St • www.statemuseum.arizona.edu