

ANTH 303

GENDER & LANGUAGE

Summer pre-session – online course

Are you curious about the relationship between gender and language? Are you interested in exploring how gender is understood and enacted through social practice, in the US and elsewhere? Would you like hands-on experience in research methods used in linguistic anthropology?

~ Join us this Summer pre-session in Anth 303: Gender & Language! ~

Taking a broad view of language that includes gesture, body language, and other forms of bodily semiotics, we will explore this topic from various theoretical perspectives and by looking at a wide variety of case studies from American Fraternities to Japanese pop culture and beyond.

SUMMER
PRE-SESSION
2017

FULLY ONLINE

MAY 15 – JUNE 16

ANTH/LING/GWS
303

QUESTIONS?

Contact the Instructor!

Jessica Nelson, ABD

jfnelson@email.arizona.edu